Project documentation

Data Structures used

- ArrayList - for storing and retrieving processes in order of insertion
- PriorityQueue – for retrieving and processing elements with highest priority one at a time

Observations and take aways

- This assignment helped me get started with learning on how a scheduling system in an operating system works
- The pseudocode was really useful and it helped me structure my code